The kit is designed to meet the initial primary healthcare needs of a displaced population in areas where there is no access to medical facilities: isolated areas or where medical facilities have been disrupted in the aftermath of a natural or manmade disaster or by an ongoing emergency.

The IEHK provides medical supplies to care for a population of 10,000 for a period of 3 months.

To improve access to care, and permit response to various situations, the kit is divided into 10 Basic Units intended for primary health care workers and one Supplementary Unit for medical doctors.

The Basic Units contains essential medicines and medical devices; the Supplementary Unit contains essential medicines (orals, injectables and external applications), infusions, medical devices, and basic medical equipment, including 1 autoclave (20 or 24 litres),

The Supplementary Unit does not contain any of the medicines or medical devices already provided in the Basic Units.

- The IEHK does not include equipment for resuscitation or major surgeries.
- The IEHK is not designed for immunization or nutritional programmes, for reproductive health services, or for the treatment of HIV/AIDS, tuberculosis or leprosy; further, it includes only limited treatment for chronic diseases.
